City Printing
Award Again
Comes Up
In Council Meeting

CONTRACT for city legal printing and advertising was last night awarded to the Glendale News by the city council. As for the city opinion that on the strength of its bid the News was entitled to the contract. But as we mentioned in this column a few days ago, its bid on the printing of legal borders on proffering, as it was in some instances more than two and one-half times higher than was that of the Press, the News charging as high as $9.25 for work costing $1.93 to produce.

As mentioned before, if the council was justified in calling for new bids in the first instance it was a thousand times more justified in doing it the second time. We never thought that we had any chance to have the contract for city legal advertising awarded to us, for if the city had called for new bids our third bid would have been the same as it was in the first instance.

THE figure we named then was as low as we could handle the work for and come out with a profit. We did think, however, that another call for bids would cause the News to reduce its bid on the printing of the legal borders to a price which was within reason and thereby save the city money.

As mentioned before, the bid has the earmarks of an attempt to make the city legal printing pay the profit on both the printing and the advertising.

Sam Davis takes credit for saving the city money on this contract and refers to himself as "Saving Sam." This appellation might have been in this instance if it were not for the fact that the city is going to pay for its printing.

WITH this in mind an appellation of "Spending Sam" might fit better. Among the rambling allegations this same councilman said we had misstated when we claimed a legal right to the legal printing along with the advertising as being part of the contract. So that the public may know who made the true statement regarding this we quote below the ordinance calling for bids and on which the contract was made. In reading this you will note that it specifically mentions not only city advertising but also city printing.

UNDER these circumstances all the money paid for this work in excess of what we would have charged for the work is a wasteful expenditure of the city's funds.

The following call for bids appeared in the Glendale Daily Press of September 25, 1922:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the undersigned invites and will receive at his office in the City Hall, No. 619 East Broadway, in the City of Glendale, up to 7 o'clock of September 21, 1922, sealed bids for City legal printing and advertising for the ensuing year, beginning Oct. 1, 1922, in accordance with specifications adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale, at a regular meeting held on September 14, 1922, and on file in the office of the City Clerk.

By order of the council of the City of Glendale.
Glendale, Calif., Sept. 15, 1922.
A. J. VAN WIE, City Clerk.
Dated Sept. 16, 1922.

New Grade Crossings of P. E. Considered

The establishment of grade crossings over the Burbank extension of the Pacific Electric at Kenilworth, Concord and Justin streets was discussed yesterday at the city hall at a formal hearing under Examiner W. R. Williams, who represented the State Railroad Commission.

The city of Glendale was represented at the hearing by Assistant City Attorney Leslie R. Tarr. The desirability of having these crossings established was explained by Alex Mitchell, president of the Foothill Improvement association. Objection was made by Attorney David Fairies of the Automobile Club of Southern California who called attention to the findings of the County Grade Crossing Commission in regard to their toll of lives. The Auto club also was represented by its chief engineer, E. E. East.

The Pacific Electric was represented at the hearing by Attorney Frank Carr. The subject was taken under advisement.

THEY GAVE THEIR LIVES; BOUGHT TICKET YET?

DAINTY VIOLA DANA ADDED TO UNCLE BILL'S LIST

Yes, and Shirley Mason, Too; Have You a Ticket Yet?

And now comes Uncle Bill Howe with the announcement that petite Viola Dana and charming Shirley Mason are the latest additions to Uncle Bill's list of the fire victims' benefit performance of Nov. 6. Little Viola, 4 feet 11 inches in height, will give an inimitable impersonation of stalwart Rodolph Valentino, the perfect screen "lover" whose soulful kisses bring sighs of rapture from adoring maidens.

Mr. Howe says many screen notables are volunteering their aid in this good cause that already the cast is larger than that for the recent "Actors' Benefit," and the problem now is not to add new volunteers but to restrict the output. A performance lasting till midnight is already assured. Shall it be extended?

When these famous screen folk so generously, and in such great numbers offer the best that is in them to aid in this sacred cause, it certainly behooves us Glendale folk to show our appreciation of their generous action as well as of the deeds of valor we seek to honor by every one of us buying a ticket for the benefit performance, when these stars, whose every act costs them money, give so freely and gladly of their time in this cause.

Below is a list to date of the film stars who have cheerfully and gladly offered to take leading parts in this great benefit performance:

Will Rogers, Lionel Belmore, Clara Kimball Young, Ruth Roland, Lucille Cavanaugh, Wanda Hawley, Louise Dresser, Jack Gardner, Herbert Rawlinson, Bill Desmond, Milton Sills, Ernest Torrence, Lew Cody, Hedda Hopper, Agnes Ayres, Arthur Stuart Hull, Shirley Mason, Viola Dana.

COLORADO STREET ORNAMENTAL LIGHTING

Illumination for the Full Length Is Burden of Petition

Ornamental lights will be installed the full length of Colorado street according to action taken last night by the city council.

City Engineer Ben P. Dupuy reported that a petition recommending the installation of lights had been signed by over 48 percent of the interested property owners. He was instructed to collaborate with City Attorney Ray L. Morrow in preparing necessary proceedings.

The section between Central avenue and Brand boulevard was left out of the proceedings on the grounds that property owners in this business district might prefer a more brilliant light. Standards recommended for the remainder of the street are of cast iron or pressed steel as made by the Union Metal Manufacturing company. The design is reported to be the same as that selected for Glendale avenue.

The difficulty of finding a place to put the standards east of Glendale avenue in view of the widening proceedings was mentioned by Mr. Dupuy. Roy L. Kent of 130 South Brand boulevard expressed his opinion that it would be a shame to have the proceedings blocked by a mere technicality.

THE WEATHER
(By Associated Press)
Southern California: Fair to night and Saturday; gentle north-easterly winds; fog along the coast in morning.

COUNCIL DELAYS DEFINITE ACTION ON SEWER PLANS

The city council last night decided to delay final action regarding awarding the contract for the preparation of plans for the local sewer system.

This action was taken after the official resolution authorizing Mayor Spencer Robinson to sign a contract with Burns and McDonnell of Los Angeles had been passed. Councilman Sam Davis was in the room but was not in the official enclosure when the vote was called. He failed to respond to the roll call and used this fact as a basis for a suggestion that the vote be reconsidered. This was done and the matter was laid upon the table until Monday night's session.

The desirability of having this survey made by a local man was emphasized by a committee consisting of Alex Mitchell, Roy L. Kent, Alfred Priest, D. L. Gregg and M. Walters. This was in all probability the real reason for delaying definite action.

The council undoubtedly wanted additional time for considering the problem from this angle.

FOREST LAWN IN GENEROUS OFFER TO CITY COUNCIL

Offers Entire Personnel and Equipment for Fighting Fires

Forest Lawn's personnel and equipment, which might be used in an emergency, last night was put at the disposal of the city council. "In view of the damage to life and property caused by the recent conflagration in the Verdugo Hills district," stated a communication from C. Boynton, development engineer, "we believe it would be well for your honorable body and other proper authorities to know what local forces and equipment are available for public duty should impending disaster at any time in the future warrant their use."

"Our present forces at Forest Lawn Memorial park consist of the following equipment and men: Four tractor engines fully equipped with drivers, plows, harrows, graders and trenchers and other grading equipment; eight teams with grading equipment; one water tank wagon; one 2-ton auto truck; two 1-ton trucks, five touring cars."

"Normally our operating and construction department employs about sixty men. At the present time we have 155 laborers on our payroll, all fully equipped with picks, shovels, etc. These fellows are our own crews exclusive of an additional thirty or forty men employed by contractors on our building work."

"All of our own forces, excepting a nucleus of men for operating purposes, are available for public service on a few minutes' notice."

"We contemplate the construction in the very near future of a standpipe water tower sixty feet high to be located on the top of Mount Forest Lawn and treated architecturally as an observation tower. A storage capacity of 165,000 gallons and 300 gallons per minute operated by our own pumps will be independent of the city mains and available through emergency connections for fire protection of adjacent districts. This will give a static pressure of 145 pounds on Glendale avenue at Cerritos street."

"We trust that you will not hesitate to call on us for help should life or property be in danger."

A motion was made by Councilman Sam Davis and seconded by Councilman C. E. Kimlin that City Clerk A. J. Van Wie should write thanking the management of Forest Lawn for its offer to put this equipment at the city's service. The information was turned over to Fire Chief A. H. Lankford.

AUTO AND TRUCK DISPUTE RIGHT-OF-WAY

Grand View and San Fernando road was the scene of a collision about 7 o'clock this morning between a machine driven by Jesse H. Hupp of 1027 Boynton street and a Harrison-Hull truck driven by Ralph Ball of Burbank.

"The truck cut the button," reports Mr. Hupp, "and hit my car broadside, causing considerable damage."

SPENDING SAM'S WIDENING OF SAN BIG BLUFF IS CALLED FERNANDO ROAD SEEMS SURE

Daily Press Gives His Bloyiations Seriatim et Literatim

Contract for city printing and publishing last night was awarded to the Glendale Evening News.

The city council took this action following a report by City Manager W. H. Reeves that a check-up on an average job, proceedings for the improvement of Stanley avenue, showed that the price quoted by the Glendale Evening News would be twelve per cent lower than the price quoted by the Glendale Press.

Motion for the official awarding of the contract was made by Councilman Sam Davis, seconded by Councilman C. E. Kimlin. Upon roll call by City Clerk A. J. Van Wie, Mayor Spencer Robinson also voted aye, while Councilman W. A. Horn and Councilman Asa Hall failed to vote—although they later voted in the affirmative.

Councilman Davis, referring to himself as "Saving Sam," immediately arose from his chair, stuck one hand in a pocket and made a few remarks into the air.

"I don't run a newspaper," he remarked. "This is the only place that I can speak."

Denial of the allegation that the city administration had been at fault in giving city printing to the Glendale News during the past fiscal year although the Glendale Press was the official newspaper was made by Mr. Davis.

"The Glendale Press never had any money for city printing," he exclaimed. "They had a contract for city advertising."

Ten cents on every dollar spent for printing and publishing during the next year by the city will be saved through the fact that the city administration did not accept the bids offered on the first advertisement.

Mr. Davis reminded those present of this fact. "We may be dubs, and I sometimes think we are," said Davis, "but our management of city business will compare favorably with any city anywhere."

"I challenge Watson to come out in the open and debate with me. I am sure OUR management of city affairs will prove we are doing all we can."

"Our controller tells us that, figuring from any standpoint you want, the News' bid will save the city from 10 to 12 per cent over the bid of the Press. Watson has been harping on 'Saving Sam.' Will he have the nerve to come out and publish the information that 'Saving Sam' is saving the people from 10 to 12 per cent of city printing. NO, he won't," declared Davis in a loud voice.

Councilman W. A. Horn expressed his opinion that the bids were still "high." He inquired if specifications could not be rewritten. He suggested the desirability of having it specified that all city printing should be continuous in each issue of the official newspaper.

W. L. Taylor, advertising manager for the Press, then offered some information. He called attention to the fact that the practice which prevailed last year of having publishing done by one newspaper and printing by the other, had been expensive because it meant resetting the type.

City Engineer Ben P. Dupuy asserted that it had been necessary to read proof upon the Colorado street posters six times, each reading requiring the services of two persons. He stated that this proof was more expensive than the printing itself. This work was done by the Glendale Evening News.

GLENDALE FOLK VICTIMIZED BY PEDDLER
Several Glendale families are reported to have been victimized out of a dollar each yesterday by a man, giving the name of R. K. Wells who took this amount as a deposit on a new set of dishes. He represented himself as an agent for the Pacific Decorating Company. The police department was unable to convince itself that there really is such a company.

AUTOS COME TOGETHER AT COLUMBUS AND SALEM
An attempt to avoid a collision at Columbus and Salem about 7:45 this morning was unsuccessful. One machine was driven by J. R. Mahan of 606 Milford street and the other was driven by E. H. Trader, Jr., of 659 Salem street.

LEGION BANQUET TONIGHT AT THE T. A. CLUBHOUSE

Legionnaires and ex-service men will gather at the Tuesday Afternoon club tonight for their annual banquet.

An attendance of more than 200 is anticipated by Don H. Packer, who is in charge of the program. Not only Legionnaires but all ex-service men are invited.

The banquet will commence at 7, and will be served by members of the Tuesday Afternoon club. A high class program has been prepared by the committee in charge. The guest of honor will be James Collins of Long Beach, State Commander of California. Supervisor Henry W. Wright of South Pasadena, and P. T. Hayes, chairman of the committee of hospitals and rehabilitation will speak. Dwight W. Stephenson will be the toastmaster.

An Hawaiian instrumental quartet will furnish music, and "Bill" Hatch of Alhambra and Arthur Hill of Los Angeles, will render several popular songs. A male quartet will also sing.

'OUR SAM' ADVISES NIGHT WORK TO OUTWIT THE CITY

"Get Over Technicality by Nightmare," Sam's Sage Advice

Red tape may prevent Mrs. Grace Horton from continuing to operate a bungalow grocery at 506 South Pacific avenue, just south of the Pacific school.

The property upon which this store is located has been acquired by the board of education and has been made a part of the school property. Mrs. Horton has acquired an interest in the adjoining lot to the south and is desirous of having her store moved there—a distance of fifty feet. The subject was discussed at last night's session of the city council.

Two technicalities that obstruct this action were explained by H. C. Vandewater, superintendent of the building department. First, since this store was opened this section of Pacific avenue has been officially restricted to residences. Therefore, this store could not be moved into a residential district.

Second: Should this district be converted into a commercial district this frame building, which is about fifteen by twenty feet in size, would not conform to the requirement that all buildings in commercial districts shall be at least semi-fireproof.

"I believe the way to get over such technicalities," remarked Councilman Sam Davis, sotto voce, "is to move it some night and have it there in the morning."

After some discussion the council decided to have a hearing on the subject Monday night.

BANK BUILDING FOR GATEWAY IS ASSURED

To Be at 1801 So. Brand, Two Stories High, Cost $40,000

Southern Glendale is to have a new bank building!

Bids are now being received for the erection of a two-story brick store and hotel building to be built on the southwest corner of Brand boulevard and San Fernando road for Dan Campbell of North Glendale, and John Logan of 122 East Park avenue, who have owned this corner for some time.

Architect, Alfred Priest of 1422 North Central avenue expects that the building will cost about $40,000. He stated that the contract probably will be let in ten days.

The property has a frontage of 60 feet on San Fernando road and 70 feet on Brand boulevard. The building will cover the entire lot.

The Community Savings and Commercial bank, which is now located at 1726 South San Fernando road, and in which Mr. Campbell is interested, will move into one of the three rooms on the first floor. The others will be leased as stores. The second floor will be divided into 16 sleeping rooms.

KIWANIANS TALK OVER $700,000 IN OF HALLOWE'EN PARTY TODAY

Complete Plans Made for Kiddies' Grand Time

The children's Halloween party—the biggest undertaking of the year of the Kiwanis club—was one of the principal subjects of discussion at the meeting of that organization at the Tuesday Afternoon club at noon today. The "kids" of the city are to give the "kids" of the city a sane Halloween, to give these youngsters the time of their lives and to send them home with a full stomach. The party will be held on Wednesday evening, October 31, at 7:15 o'clock. Every boy and girl is urged to dress in some Halloween uniform and to be on hand for the beginning of the parade at the corner of Harvard and Louise streets.

For this event the children will be divided into three groups as follows:

First group—Children up to and including third grade.
Second group—4th, 5th and 6th grades.
Third group—7th to 9th grades.
Fourth grade—High school and above.

Every boy and girl who enters the parade and who has the costume in each group will receive a prize. The parade will march up Brand to Wilson, back to Colorado, then on Colorado to entrance of high school grounds.

During the evening there will be a huge bonfire, push ball contests, fireworks, and best of all, a "hot dog" feed. The children will be safely taken care of by the eighty Kiwanis members and several members of the local police force.

The various committees for this affair are as follows:

Publicity committee—A. L. Baird, chairman.
Program committee—Ray Galvin, chairman, and Dr. J. L. Anderson. Ray Galvin will be marshal-in-chief of the celebration at the school grounds.

Prizes and Judges—Frank Echols, Fred Deal, D. L. Gregg, Mayor Robinson and A. L. Baird. First and second prizes will be given for the best floats and first and second prizes for the best group formation.

Honorary committee—D. H. Webb, Roger Bentley, W. H. Reeves, N. C. Hayhurst.
Eats committee—E. P. Hayward, Harry McBain, S. W. Brown, T. L. Towman and O. W. Anderson.
Parade Committee—W. G. Bode, M. B. Towman and every Kiwanian in the club.

Parade Marshals—First section, Kewpie Kiefer; second section, Ray Goode; third section, Lyman Clark; fourth section, Bob Phelps.
Floats and groups—Ben Towman.

S. W. Brown has offered to furnish a bottle of Comalt to each of the youngsters on the ground.

"Watch us go," said Bill Bode, general manager, this morning. "This will be the biggest thing of the year. We show 'em that Kiwanis is in town."

During the luncheon the Tugner sis ters gave Russian dances, and Miss Elizabeth Turner, delighted those present with a buck and wing dance.

The speaker of the occasion was Baroness De Ropp, who spoke from the subject "Business conditions in Russia."

BRICK AND TERRA COTTA WORK ON BANK NEXT
Brick and terra cotta work upon the six story building being erected on the northwest corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway for the Security Trust and Savings bank will be commenced next week.

According to Architect Alfred Priest of 1422 North Columbus avenue, the construction of this building is one-third finished. He stated that concrete is being poured around the steel skeleton of the fifth and sixth floors.

Terra cotta, which was made by the Tropico Pottery, is now ready for delivery. Its contract price is $63,000. The total cost of the building will be about $600,000.

HOLLYWOOD MAN'S FORD STOLEN IN GLENDALE
The theft of a Ford roadster late last night from Maryland avenue between Broadway and Wilson avenue was reported by H. R. Johnson of Hollywood to the police department.

October's building record yesterday, Thursday, October 25, 1923, passed the seven hundred thousand dollar mark.

Total for the year to date this morning amounted to $8,010,837.

DIRECTORS AND COMMITTEEMEN FOR CHEST MEET

Confirm Appointments of Committeemen, Set Drive Date

A combined meeting of members of the board of directors and of chairmen of active committees of Glendale Welfare Chest organization was held Friday evening at the chamber of commerce at which important appointments were confirmed, viz:

Burton McGinnis as permanent secretary with authority to draft the necessary help.

A. W. Tower as chairman of the general campaign committee.

Dr. Warren T. Newton as chairman of publicity committee.

C. C. Cooper as chairman of finance.

R. F. Kitterman as chairman of budget and endorsement.

All these gentlemen have agreed to serve and all will call their committees together within the coming week. One of the most important activities will be the work of the budget and endorsement committee. It will invite all known beneficiaries of previous drives to submit budgets which will be passed upon by the committee and then submitted to the board of directors for approval.

The drive was definitely set for the week of November 19 to 24, and plans discussed for the starting of an immediate and intensive publicity campaign through the newspapers and otherwise.

The drive will be conducted on the district plan and it is probable that captains and lieutenants will be appointed in the near future.

A committee composed of E. J. Sanders, V. M. Hollister and Attorney James McBryde as work to secure the necessary incorporation under the laws of California and will probably report at the next meeting of the board of directors which will be called by the president, W. E. Hewitt, when there is business for it to transact. Other officials are: David Black, first vice president; Mrs. H. E. Bartholt, second vice president; R. F. Kitterman, treasurer; Burton McGinnis, secretary.

Members of the committee on budget and endorsement met this morning at the chamber of commerce, but without their chairman, R. F. Kitterman, who is confined to his home by illness. Those present were Rev. Clifford Cole, D. H. Smith, Mrs. Daniel Campbell, and Secretary Burton McGinnis.

RESTRICTIONS ON GASOLINE SALES UP TO COUNCIL

Gasoline filling stations in Glendale may be restricted in the near future from selling hydrolene.

The "K. B. K." filling station at 1023 East Broadway was represented at last night council meeting by its proprietors, C. B. Kreager and H. A. Banks. They entered a protest against some of the provisions in the proposed ordinance regulating the quality of gasoline to be sold at Glendale filling stations.

One of the three grades of gasoline sold at this station, according to Mr. Kreager is gas which is made under a new process and known scientifically as hydrolene. He stated that in carburetors which can be cut down, it made a very powerful explosive owing to its richness. He stated that it would be injurious to business to be obliged to call this gasoline hydrolene because customers would be prejudiced at the name. He called attention to the fact that the council does not attempt to regulate the width of silk sold at dry goods stores nor the quality of other commodities offered for sale.

Councilman W. A. Horn expressed his opinion that it is no more than fair to inform autoists what they are having poured into their gasoline tanks. The subject was laid upon the table without action.

DOWNING & COX TO MOVE NURSERY ABOUT JAN. 1ST

Arrangements were completed on Thursday by Downing & Cox for a lease on the property at 121 South Maryland avenue, where they will be located with their nursery after January 1, as their present location has been leased for a long term of years to the Glendale Music company. The owner of the property on Maryland avenue will erect a brick store building with pressed brick front and show rooms.

Downing & Cox will conduct a seed, bulb and garden supply house and sales rooms there, in addition to the nursery. Their main propagating plant is being moved to their two-acre site on San Fernando road between Glendale and Burbank. About 1-8 acre is covered with a lath house. There they will have a salesyard. The plant will have a salesyard. The plant will have a salesyard. The plant will have a salesyard.

MRS. CAPP'S TALK TO CLUB SECTION MOST PRACTICAL

By-laws to Be Acted on at Next Meeting of Maids and Matrons

The regular meeting of the Maids' and Young Matrons' section of the Tuesday Afternoon club on Thursday was held at the society circus, the Christmas tree where pot-holders will be sold at a small charge and will also give the purchaser an opportunity to win a beaded bag. Members of the section were asked to cooperate by making the holders. The first reading of the by-laws of the section was made yesterday by Mrs. Scott and they will be acted upon at the next meeting. On November 22 the section will have a get-together dinner party for members and their husbands. Each member of the section will be asked to contribute some article towards the dinner and also to bring their favorite recipe. Mrs. Macpherson was appointed chairman to arrange for this affair.

Mrs. Montgomery has asked that the maids and matrons section take over, in addition to the handkerchief booth at the society circus, the Christmas tree where pot-holders will be sold at a small charge and will also give the purchaser an opportunity to win a beaded bag. Beauty Cleanliness

"We take the matter of extreme cleanliness so much for granted, in our beauty work that we are surprised that it should be commended."

"That is so small a part of Marinello's laboratory lore of 18 years' study of beauty methods."

Piano, "Twilight," by Barbara Blocke.

LEGION HALLOWE'EN DANCE TO BE SPOOKY AFFAIR

Hallowe'en decorations and Hallowe'en characters, spooks, witches, fortune tellers and many comical outfits will be in evidence at the masquerade dance to be given by the Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, at the Legion hall, 610 East Broadway, on Saturday night. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes. Those not caring to mask are also invited to be present to see the fun. Although the six-piece orchestra of ex-service men that will furnish music for dancing has been called "Ichabod Crane's Sleepy Hollow Orchestra," Leroy Fortier and Lew Ganger, the committee in charge of arrangements, promise that there will be nothing slow about it. Dancing will begin at 8:30 and continue until midnight.

MISSIONARY WOMEN OF FIRST M. E. CHURCH MEET

The George O. Robinson group of the Women's Home Missionary society of the First Methodist church met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Emma Reed, 533 Raleigh street, for work and a social gathering. After luncheon a business meeting was held with Mrs. Nellie Wheeler presiding. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Tague, devotional secretary, and prayer offered by Mrs. Sherman. The program for the afternoon included a quartet number by members of the society, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Coleman, and a very interesting talk by Mrs. Waters on "The Future American Child."

MRS. BEALS OF SANTA ANA INSPECTS T. A. CLUB

Mrs. N. A. Beals, member of the Ebell club of Santa Ana, was a recent visitor of the Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale on a tour of inspection of this beautiful club building, securing information and ideas that may be of use in the construction of a women's clubhouse in that city. Other recent visitors at the Tuesday clubhouse were Victor E. Carpenter of South Berwick, Maine; Julia L. Brown of South Berwick, Maine; Lewis Wolford of Lincoln, Neb.; Lillian M. Douglas of Covina and Mrs. Joseph A. Moore of Pasadena.

HALLOWE'EN DANCING PARTY

On Thursday night, November 1, members and friends of the Glendale Canadian club are planning to attend a very jolly Hallowe'en dancing party to be held at the K. P. Hall at Park avenue and South Brand boulevard. Spooky ghosts, witches, will be largely represented, as it is to be a costume affair. The committee in charge includes Mr. and Mrs. Western, Mrs. O. L. Richards and Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre. Music will be furnished by Kelly's Shrine Orchestra.

THIRTY GUILD MEMBERS DISCUSS BIG BAZAAR

Arrangements for the bazaar to be held on November 23 were discussed at the regular all-day meeting of St. Mark's Guild held Thursday at the guild hall of the church. There were thirty members present. The pot-luck luncheon at noon proved to be a banquet. Mrs. A. A. Bassett, president, had charge of the devotional exercises. At the regular business meeting announcement was made of food sale to be held at 10 o'clock Saturday at Coker & Taylor's.

The committee on arrangements for the bazaar announced that it would be held on November 23 in the guild hall, which is being remodeled, and will be in the form of a house-warming. In the afternoon tea and cake will be served by Mrs. Speck. Mrs. Katherine Goodman was named as general chairman in charge of the dinner, which will be served in the evening at 7 o'clock. Mrs. Frank England and Mrs. Sarah Hill will have charge of the kitchen and the dinner will be served by members of the Girls' Friendly Society. Mrs. J. L. McOmber and Mrs. B. O. Holbrook will have charge of the advertising. There will be booths for fancy work, aprons, quilts, rugs, cooked foods and candy.

HALLOWE'EN DINNER FOR TUESDAY CLUB

Elaborate arrangements are being made for the Hallowe'en dinner and party to be held at the Tuesday Afternoon club house on October 30 under the direction of the ways and means committee. Mrs. A. H. Montgomery will be chairman of the dinner committee, tickets for which must be secured by Monday night from Mrs. Barton. Only 300 reservations can be made. Tickets for the dance may be secured from Mrs. George T. Smith. Mrs. W. F. Macpherson will have charge of the bridge tables and Mrs. Allen Fairchild will have the "500." Those desiring to play cards may secure tickets from either of these chairmen. Hallowe'en decorations will be under the direction of Mrs. Estelle Brain. Music for dancing is to be furnished by a six-piece orchestra.

OVER 250 PRESENT AT ODD FELLOWS' MEETING

Noble Grand Hall presided at one of the largest attended meetings of the Glendale lodge of Odd Fellows, held at the I. O. O. F. hall on Thursday night with over 250 present. About 75 members of the Van Nuys lodge were present and the Van Nuys team conferred the second degree on Henry Patterson and the Simpson brothers, their work being most commendable. A number of visitors from other states were also present.

Following the business meeting a delicious banquet was served and the members departed for their homes at about 1 o'clock. At the meeting next Thursday night the Glendale team will put on the third degree.

THIRTEEN SURPRISE LOGAN HUGO LAST EVENING

On Thursday evening a group of thirteen friends of Logan L. Hugo of 536 East Elk avenue gave him a surprise party. Mr. Hugo is resigning as carpenter for the Glendale school board, in which capacity he has served for over 3 years, and the guests were all carpenters or janitors of the Glendale schools. The party was planned by "Banta" Evans of the Grand View school. During the evening Mr. Hugo was presented with a traveling bag as a token of appreciation of services rendered.

BAPTIST R. T. W. CLASS MEETS AT ROY KENT HOME

Regular business meeting of the R. T. W. class of the First Baptist church was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Roy Kent, with Mrs. Roger Bentley, president, in charge. The meeting was well attended and the time spent in sewing and a social time. The program was postponed until the meeting of November 22, which will be held at the home of Mrs. George Bentley. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Robert Morrow.

Y. L. I. WILL HOLD HALLOWE'EN DANCE

Glendale Institute of Y. L. I. will hold a Hallowe'en dancing party tonight at the Knights of Columbus clubhouse at 8:30 o'clock. Music for dancing is to be furnished by Jerry Parker's Orchestra. Hallowe'en decorations will be used. The committee in charge includes Miss Eva Brehme, Mrs. Frank Clark, Mrs. F. Salmacia, Miss Mary Margaret Chapman, Miss Helen Godar and Miss Zilda Cross.

ARTS AND CRAFTS LADIES MAKE FRENCH FLOWERS

Members of section B of arts and crafts of the Tuesday Afternoon club, which met Thursday from 10 until 2 at the club house, greatly enjoyed making French flowers. White velvet was largely used and then hand-tinted the color desired. Mrs. W. C. Wattle is curator of this section.

FAITHFUL WOOLER RECEIVES RICH REWARD

Garleld Jones and Miss Lillian Shropshire Finally Wed

With only immediate relatives in attendance, the wedding of Miss Lillian Shropshire, daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Shropshire of 1841 South Brand boulevard, and Garleld Jones took place at 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning in the wedding room of the Central Christian church. Rev. C. A. Cole officiated, using the ring ceremony.

Those attending the wedding included Mrs. Mary Shropshire and daughter, Miss Birdie Shropshire; Mrs. Effie Crawford, mother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Jones and Lois Wardell. The bride's altar was decorated with maiden hair ferns and beautiful large white chrysanthemums. A remarkable Chinese rug was used as a floor covering. The bride wore a brown traveling suit and hat to match.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Jones left by automobile on a two weeks' honeymoon trip. Both have a host of friends in Glendale but in some manner they managed to evade them and had departed and were several hours away before the wedding was announced. Mr. Jones has been employed by the city of Glendale for a number of years. He and his bride have been "keeping company" for nine years.

MRS. OVERTON IS HOSTESS TO NAVAJO CLUB

Mrs. Frank Overton of 439 Oak street was hostess to the Navajo Needlework club at luncheon on Thursday. Hallowe'en furnished the motif for the coloring and character of decorations of the smartly appointed table centered with pumpkins. Name cards were placed for Mesdames J. C. Waitek, S. A. Koonz, J. J. Root, M. C. Fuller, E. R. Carlyle and L. O. Carlyle. The afternoon was devoted to needlework.

MRS. REICHARD WILL GIVE CARD PARTY, BENEFIT P. T. A.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. D. F. Reichard, of Campbell and Lorraine streets, will entertain with a card party, beginning at 2 o'clock, for the benefit of the Central Avenue Parent-Teacher association. Reservations may be made with Mrs. E. R. Ripley.

Trimmings and Novelties

"The wheel of La Mode brings on the winter horizon an extensive demand for accessories and trimmings, since the fashionable dress for other than practical hours takes on a more dressy aspect than in recent years," says a publication devoted to fashion. "Applied trimmings as well as ornamentation are accorded first importance. Thus it happens that many fancy ribbon effects are offered for inserting, and applying. Braided velvet ribbons have metal cordings at top and bottom, other novelties are made of looped ribbons, and still other kinds have threads on one edge by which to gather them to make silhouette motifs. Laces are much favored in the fine grades, some of thread or delicate Chantilly laces being draped with velvet fabrics as well as with satin. "Metal ribbons fashion other novel effects as garnitures, but none stand out with more favor than velvet ribbons: Bead ornaments, tassels, balls and fringes are cleverly added as finishing touches for formal day and evening gowns, while wraps as a rule boast one or more of these attractions. "Sumptuous furs are trimmed items one does well to afford, since the modish pettries are wondrously becoming to the face."

To cover any wooden roof, such as on dog kennels, summer houses, etc., tack down a large piece of strong brown paper. Make sure there are no holes in it for the wind to get under. Then give it two coats of paint. This will last several years, is as good as tarpaulin and much cheaper.

Many a candidate discovers that the party leaders were at his back for the purpose of kicking him.

MANY MILLIONS OF FUGITIVES IN GERMANY NOW

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—Germany today is a land of fugitives. Every thirtieth person in the German republic is a refugee. It is estimated that there are 2,000,000 Germans who have been thrown back upon their fatherland as a result of the war and the carrying out of the Versailles treaty.

This figure does not include the Russians and other foreigners who have sought refuge in Germany, and it does not take into consideration the 100,000 inhabitants of the Ruhr and Rhineland who have been deported since the French occupation.

Official statistics show that 750,000 Germans from enemy countries are now in the republic. From the strictly German settlements in Russia and in parts of Hungary now ceded to Rumania, there are 200,000 refugees. Alsace-Lorraine contributed 150,000 deportees. From Posnania, former West Prussia and Memel there are 850,000 refugees. Upper Silesia supplied 90,000 persons who could not be assimilated in Poland. From the former German colonies there are 16,000 refugees. Czechoslovakia and the portion of Schleswig ceded to Denmark each contributed 10,000.

Much of this dislodged population can never return to the land where it was before the war. Many of the refugees are politically unacceptable to the lands where they previously lived. The properties of refugees have been confiscated or lost, and they contribute to the difficulties which Germany is facing in housing and supply bread to its population.

PREDICT BRITISH LABOR PARTY IN POWER BY 1926

[By Associated Press]

WALLSEND, Eng., Oct. 26.—There will be a labor government in this country in 1926 and Ramsay MacDonald will be prime minister, said Patrick Hastings, king's counsel and labor member of parliament, in the course of a speech to his constituents here recently. He deduced this from the fact that before 1910 labor votes could be counted by a few thousands, but in 1918 the number was two and a quarter millions, while last year it was four and a half millions. At this rate of progress, he said, there would be a labor government in power by 1926.

Truths in Epigram

There lives more faith in honest doubt, believe me, than in many creeds. — Tennyson.

I had rather have a fool to make me merry than experience to make me sad. — Shakespeare.

It is true greatness to have in one the frailty of a man and the security of a god. — Seneca.

MORE ABOUT FUNDAMENTALS

Mrs. Grace Stanley, state director of elementary education, says she has no patience "with people who believe that the schools are going to the dogs because the three R's are not stressed as they used to be." Then she mentions three fundamentals, the first of which is that pupils be taught the right attitude towards each other; the second that they be given the opportunity to exercise initiative, thus finding that for which they are best fitted temperamentally; the third, that they be taught the value of sustained effort, the necessity of sticking with a problem until it is finished.

Perhaps this earnest educator has not quite caught the essence of opinion among friendly observers of the pedagogic system. The fault is found not so much in neglect to "stress" the three R's, as in neglecting some of them wholly. The usefulness of the trio is conceded generally. This usefulness is quite apparent to parents and employers who find young men and women devoid of ability to perform tasks which they should have emerged from school fully competent to meet. They cannot read intelligently, they are unable to write, because ignorant of the alphabet, and thus not knowing how to spell. Mathematics remains a closed book to them, because as pupils they had been permitted to keep it closed.

The excellence of the basic ideas mentioned by Mrs. Stanley will not be denied. They pertain to any proper elementary training. They belong to the home as well as to the school. And they are not in the least at variance with the presence and practice of the wholly unsentimental plan of teaching children to "read, write and cipher." Indeed, no reason appears why the two groups should not operate in perfect harmony as educational forces.

MOVING WESTWARD

The steamer West Prospect has just sailed from the harbor at San Pedro for the Orient. It carries a record cargo, the largest ever sent from the home port. With the exception of cedar piled on deck the entire cargo represents the products of this state. Oil, sardines, cotton, flour, asphalt and miscellaneous, it is a valuable and significant mass of staple material. It shows how the demands of the Orient are increasing. It is an indication of progress in the Far East. It is a certain sign of the development of the resources of this state. Other shipments of like character and magnitude are to follow. Trans-Pacific trade, with this port as the base of operations is but fairly begun.

The West Prospect is one of the best freighters afloat. The ship was made at the harbor whence it has just sailed. It was one of the many turned out with all the haste suggested by war needs, and yet it proved a first class vessel. In this fact is another suggestion that the Pacific coast is growing. It is starting to take its proper place in the world's business. It can raise or manufacture the stuff of which cargo is made, and it is able to furnish the bottoms in which to carry its goods across the seas.

Only a few years ago there were broad smiles at the mention of possibility that there ever could be a harbor at Los Angeles. Still young, still in the process of making, as yet with only a part of a plan for greater expansion visible in finished construction, already it handles nearly two-thirds of the coastwise traffic passing through the Panama canal, and obtains steadily a greater proportion of the traffic directly across the Pacific. If there are those who smile at the harbor now, they are the ones who, being blessed with vision, always had faith, and their smile expresses satisfaction.

THE EX-KAISER'S MOVE

The ex-kaiser, virtually a prisoner at Doorn, apparently has observed that the kingdom he once ruled is falling. Whether he realizes that he is to blame for this is not so clear, but he thinks that something should be done about it. The idea that the fragments might be gathered by a Hohenzollern, and the structure reared anew, has stirred him to activity. The episode would be pitiful were it possible to have sympathy for the once distinguished individual. In sending for his son to outline a family course, he is adding nothing to nothing, achieving no impressive total. There could be no element of strength in the combination. Even the monarchists are looking for a leader of poise and discretion. They have had a sufficient experience with royalty run wild.

At Doorn it is said the ex-kaiser believes that only the presence of himself, or one of his strain, in Germany could have the country now. Holland would let him depart, but with the understanding that he have a one-way ticket. If he goes he cannot return. Therefore it behooves him to ponder the crisis as carefully as his capacity permits. It would be awkward for him to be chased to the borderline by his former subjects that find there a Dutch sentry, to hold him until the pursuers had caught up.

Perhaps with less lenient treatment the former kaiser might have realized by this time that enough is an abundance. He has dropped out of national councils, and belongs to the past. The memory of the glory of other days may be sweet to him. The glory has departed. He is through.

FUTURE OF THE RUHR

While the world is filled with rumors as to the impending fate of Germany, the fact that a French force occupies the Ruhr seems to have been lost to sight; only temporarily of course, being too important a fact long to be ignored.

The French invaded this area because Germany declared itself unable to pay reparations. There are many who believe that Germany could have paid. These declare that there are great stocks of German gold sequestered in other lands, and that it was sent in order to evade discharge of the sums due France. All such speculation is without definite value. There is a certainty that with Germany shattered, and half a score of smaller states, of varied types of government, taking its place, the existing debt would fall to the status of the Russian debts under a bolshevist regime; which is to say, that without formality, and without regard for honesty, they would cease to be claims subject to enforcement. When a debtor dies leaving nothing, the creditor is helpless.

Then the recourse of France that comes most readily to mind, would be retention of the Ruhr region; the absolute taking over of ownership. None could blame France hardly for doing this. Even as people of other nations deplore the attitude of France in so obdurately entering the Ruhr and remaining there now, the people know that in the circumstances, the nation to which they belong would have done precisely the same. They realize that France had been made desperate by a war it had not sought, that it was entitled to reparations, and that the one chance of getting reparations was to go after them. Even that chance failed, but in failing has opened a new opportunity. Events seem likely to thrust reparations upon France after all. It may hold the Ruhr in lieu of other payment. It has the power, and to many it seems to have the moral right.

Hospitals and Ordinary Folks

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

A prominent physician, Dr. H. G. Brainerd of Los Angeles, said what I am going to comment upon. All I did was to think about the same things and listen to my friends discuss them long before Dr. Brainerd discussed them in the presence of the members of his own profession.

"Only the very rich and the very poor now find proper medical and hospital accommodations possible when the victims of long illness," is the simple way in which Dr. Brainerd phrased a terrible indictment against modern civilization. Charity provides for the poor; the rich pay what they must and do not miss the change; but the great mass of average citizens are practically ruined by any illness of long duration or by the necessity of any special surgical attention.

Dr. Brainerd says that less than 10 per cent of the people of the United States are today able to pay the current rates for doctors, nurses and hospitals through a long illness; and he declares with commendable emphasis that such a condition is a reflection upon our vaunted civilization.

Thousands and tens of thousands of people will agree with him and cheer him for expressing their views. One of my friends not long since spent three days in a hospital for a minor operation. It cost her $85 exclusive of any surgeon's bill and one item on her account was "$2.50 for bandages and sutures" when she had not had one stitch taken in her nor had any bandages been necessary. A protest brought the curt information that the charge was an "ordinary" one, and she had the bill to pay.

In talking over the subject with another prominent physician I heard the same scathing criticism of a supposedly Christian civilization which makes such poor provision for its ailing and wounded members.

"If the rich want to do something to immortalize themselves let them endow a few hospitals with beds that will be in reach of the average man with an average salary," shouted an indignant surgeon. "Recently I had a patient in one of the local hospitals for a month and when he got his bill he thought somebody had made a mistake and handed him a bill for the national debt. I think he would have died of shock if it hadn't have been for the thought of funeral costs that would ensue for his family to pay."

"When the sick of moderate means can't secure treatment and hospitalization when they need it without having to accept charity, there is something wrong."

There is and I personally am glad to have expert authority for the statement. When all is said and done most hospitals are run for the benefit of stockholders and the public accepts the arrangement as normal.

But when you come to think of it running a hospital for private profit seems rather a ghoulish thing.

What's the reason we can't have hospitals run for humanity, the charges to be on a cost basis with all profits eliminated? It may not be a business proposition; but it is certainly Christian.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

Well, I've come to the end of the road. I've told Mrs. Pilgrim I will stand no more. For years I've been going on and going on submissively, but at last I have struck. I am sounding a note of defiance on all six rattles and the tubs.

"I will not go to another Italian restaurant," is my declaration of independence. "Never, at least, not until you find a good one."

For years—across centuries—we have been enthusiastically foot-footing it down town every time the ravish tastes like ravioli and not like wet gobs of dough stuffed with ill-flavored spinach, where the spaghetti is sublime and the lasagna rival the morning stars in glory. We have burst into the new restaurant dawey-eyed, prepared to make a friend of the proprietor and bind the head waiter to us with links of silver. Always the hope fails.

"I've heard of another Italian restaurant—" We always go. Hundreds of other people go likewise. We recognize them, mute, downcast, having found another avenue of escape closed from the eternal hard fried steak and soft fried batter cakes. There are Italian restaurants, French restaurants, German restaurants, even American restaurants, where the food is delicious and the cashier is not relentless. Where one can get a salad dressing properly, instead of having been baptized by a hasty scattering of a totally unidentified liquid. Where coffee is a beverage instead of a lubricant.

Yet—with this proof before their eyes—with the presence of a generous public advertised to them—the restaurant-keeping population persists in serving bad soft messes called by foreign names and hard hard messes called by foreign names and O'Sullivan steaks and cork lifebats labelled baccarecas and round, greasy, poisonous fungi which usurp the sacred name of doughnut.

All the world is full of chances to make good. It is only an extraordinary fat-headedness that can escape them all.

THE LISTENING POST

CHAPTER XIII.

Pueblo, Colorado. The thrifty housewife takes bits of bacon, butter, suet, and different fat producing agents, heats them to the right degree in a pan or kettle, and rescues what might be waste to the business of cookery. The thrifty steel plant takes bits of old iron, steel rails that have outlived their immediate usefulness, scrap iron, boiler iron, old auto frames, junk and what-not made of iron or steel, cooks them over, and rescues valuable material to the business of industry.

JAMES W. FOLEY

There is a slight difference in the two processes, but the principle is the same. The old steel and iron is cooked up in immense ovens, "open hearths" as they are called, and the heat in them ranges from thirty-two hundred to four thousand degrees. I spell it out so you will know there is no mistake in the figures.

That degree of heat will cook scrap steel and iron and convert it into a bubbling lake of molten metal. You may look through the door of the open hearth if you will, but you will put on thick, blue glasses first. For if you did not you would perhaps suffer an irreparable injury to your eyes. It would be like looking at the sun at midday with naked eyes.

Through the blue glasses the lake of molten metal takes on a sort of pinkish violet color. The molten stuff bubbles and boils and when it is hot enough it is poured through a trough at the side of the hearth into vats, and thence into molds for ingots of steel. The stuff that goes into every ingot is tested by a chemist, and its constituents recorded. Every ingot is thus numbered and recorded.

When steel is wanted for the making of rails, wire, nails, bolts, rods or whatever may be wanted, ingots of the right consistency are made up of. Rails, of course, need a harder steel than wire. The lake of molten metal is treated with new iron ore, carbon, phosphorus, sulphur and other constituents until the final puddle of stuff is as the melter foreman wants. And he knows by taking out a spoonful of the molten stuff, cooling it and testing it just whether it is what is wanted or not.

Heat is a relative term. A hundred degrees in the shade we are accustomed to call hot. But in the open hearths where they melt steel and old iron and junk, two thousand degrees of heat is cool. Twenty-five hundred is cool. The melter foreman cries in disgust, when he is called to test metal at twenty-five hundred degrees: "Give us a little heat here! This stuff is cold!" And it is as far as he is concerned. For he wants it up over the three thousand degree mark. Then it begins to get warm, in the language of the melting furnaces.

Out in the railroad yard where the scrap and junk is brought in from the various sources of supply, there is an electric crane and suspended from it is a great disk of iron that is fluted at the sides and looks like a glorified cup cake. It is perhaps a foot through and five feet across with a flat surface below.

You may wonder what that is swinging in the air for. Then you see it dropped down upon an ingot of metal weighing five tons. A current is turned on and the ingot rises with the cup cake and is carried along through the air to any place it is wanted.

The immense magnet that the cup cake becomes when the current of electricity is driven through it lifts ten thousand pounds with ease. It passes over the ground and bits of steel rail, scraps, sheet metal and the like rush up to meet it and cling to the smooth face. It is like a great vacuum cleaner handling tons of weight with the same ease that the old-fashioned pocket magnet used to pick up a pin.

Songs of the Poets

Memory—By William Browne (1588-1643)

So shuts the marigold her leaves
At the departure of the sun;
So from the honeysuckle sheaves
The bee goes when the day is done;
So sits the turtle when she is but one,
And so all woe, as I since she is gone.

To some few birds kind Nature hath
Made all the summer as one day;
Which one enjoy'd, cold winter's wrath
As night they sleeping pass away.
Those happy creatures are, that know not yet
The pain to be deprived or to forget.

I oft have heard say there be
Some that with confidence profess
The helpful Art of Memory:
But could they teach Forgetfulness,
I'd learn; and try what further art could do
To make me love her and forget her too.

THE MOST PERFECT GENTLEMEN

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE most perfect gentlemen I ever saw, to date, are the Japanese men of culture and standing.

All races and nations produce fine samples, but in my opinion the nearest approach to what we mean by "good breeding" is found among the high class Japanese.

There are some splendid English aristocrats, but no Englishman entirely escapes a certain superciliousness. I have had a noble lord rudely turn his back to me in the midst of a conversation.

The best Americans cannot escape an air of hardness. In fact egotism sticks out of the English speaking gentleman or lady in spite of any amount of effort to be agreeable.

The Japanese know how to manifest perfect consideration. They are humble, yet with dignity; agreeable, but not too much; know when to talk interestingly, and when to listen interestedly; in short, they are past masters at the art of making one feel at ease.

In the first place, their skill arises from a profound racial source, the practice of self-control for generations. All good manners are rooted in self-discipline.

Western people who are used to the childish habit of yielding to every impulse and boasting of it as a virtue, do not understand the excellency of perfect inhibition, and call it hypocrisy.

To do so is to manifest the inferiority complex, to throw mud at a perfection we cannot reach, to cry sour grapes.

The Japanese are a sensitive, passionate race, but they are masters of themselves. They are not whining all the while, perking up a little fragment of wit into bitter cynicisms, cleverly fishing for sympathy or flattery, nor preening their culture in an air of supercilious superiority.

The Japanese gentleman is cheerful toward you, even if his heart is breaking. He is thoughtful and courteous toward you, whether you be a poor school teacher or a rich banker.

You cannot feel awkward in his presence because you sense that his earnest purpose is to relieve you of any embarrassment.

He does not bludgeon you with his positivities, like a cocky commercial traveler; he is not obsequious, as a head waiter; he is not pompous and strutting, as are too many in the west who are in some position of a little brief authority.

He does not rudely break into your sentence while you are talking.

He does not smile in hopeless pity at you when he disagrees with you.

He does not ignore or brush aside your expressed opinion, as though he wished you hadn't uttered it, but under the circumstances he supposes he'll have to endure it.

He has none of those precocities of vulgarity which the society of Europe have been cultivating steadily for so many generations, and none of that infantile desire to shock which seems to characterize so many Americans.

The Japanese gentleman puts you at your ease. Whatever you do is right. If you want to stand on your head, or put your feet on the table, you will meet from him no frown of disapproval.

When I have said this to some people they have replied: "But it's all on the surface. They don't mean it. They are not sincere."

To which the complete answer is that surfaces are all we are talking about. We are like the young man who told his father that he had fallen in love with the most beautiful girl in the world and wanted to marry her.

"But, my son," cautioned the father, "you must remember, beauty is only skin deep."

"Sure, dad. But then—I'm no cannibal."

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

Trouble is predicted for the Farmer-Labor party. The organization seems to be engaged in making some of it.

A dramatic critic observing the making of a moving picture was much struck when one of the actors hit him with a custard pie.

A picture is shown of a baby elephant said to be fed on "milk from an empty gourd." Rather meager diet.

Six years for a dope peddler is a recent dose given by a federal judge, but not regarded as an over-dose.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

SENATOR JOHNSON'S CONFESSION

[Syracuse Post-Standard, Rep.]

Senator Hiram Johnson registers indignation that his private letters should be extracted from somebody's file and made public. Senator Foraker of Ohio and Senator Bailey of Texas were equally indignant, righteousness indignation, when the same trick was played on them, but they nevertheless left public life because of the revelations made. Senator Johnson, who breathes fire and shouts thunder in public speech, confesses defeat and disappointment in his private correspondence. A leader who admits that he is beaten is leader no longer.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

There comes a book, a kindly, pleasing book, bearing the title "The Bush Aflame." The author is Dana W. Bartlett. The illustrator is Dana Bartlett, in no manner related to the first, save that a mutual love of beauty has made them kindred souls. One has wrought his love of beauty into words, and the other, catching the spell of the words, has furnished them with an adornment of artistry.

Dana W. Bartlett in his period of work on behalf of the lowly, when he lived and toiled among them, often was mentioned as the most useful citizen of Los Angeles; rare praise, but deserved. He is the friend of the poor, brother to the unfortunate. Now he has written a book that expresses the high qualities of his spirit and mind. This is not his first book. The earlier ones were timely and good, but not so wide in their appeal. In "The Bush Aflame" Mr. Bartlett exalts nature, exults in his happy contact with it; sees God's goodness, in the sky, the cloud, the mountain, in the sweeping wind, the flower of the valley, the snow of the heights.

Clear optimism, fine convincing optimism; an uplifting, regenerating influence. To the author a blossom-laden tree, the aroma of fruit, becomes the witness of divinity.

There should be a welcome for a book entirely wholesome, unrestrained in its gladness at the spiritual revelation of reality so taking hold of mortals that "They will look at the stary heavens and think God's thoughts."

The other day a man was convicted of carrying concealed weapons. As the prisoner was an alien his act constitutes a felony. He was sentenced to 180 days in the county jail. Then as soon as the sentence had been passed, it was "suspended." The exact meaning of this is that the court declined to penalize him.

As this happened in Los Angeles, where Chief of Police Vollmer is trying to subdue the criminal element, he declines to voice approval. In fact the course he takes expresses something as far in the other direction as possible. Doubtless the ex-prisoner is satisfied, however, and that is something.

Court reporters are being given part of the blame for delays in criminal cases. They appear to have been loafing on their jobs of furnishing transcripts of evidence. There is a stipulated time for having transcripts ready, but no attention seems to be paid to it.

The suggestion that the pay days of the recreant reporters be permitted to slide into the future at least as far as the reporters project the transcripts, meets approval.

It is time to put the "sheik" out of business. Of course the title, of accidental derivation, is wholly absurd, but it has come to portray a certain type of character wholly devoid of decency. The young, over-dressed loafer who thinks he has winning ways, is proud to be called a sheik. He is a creature of prey, women and girls his victims; the means of his parasitic life created.

Just the other day a wise judge sent one of the evil fraternity to prison for a year to life. Now will the gentlemen who deal out paroles so lavishly kindly keep their hands off? The life sentence is what this fellow needs. It represents his one chance to be useful. As an awful example he may serve a purpose yet.

Oakland is fighting street cars by putting busses on in opposition. Similar contests are in progress in many places. Out of these competitions it is possible that soon or late there will be evolved a transit system approaching the ideal.

Why poke fun at the French duel? It is an amusing episode, and usually harmless. The principals seem to enjoy it, the seconds get a thrill, and then, honor having been satisfied, the scrappers kiss on both cheeks, and go home.

It is true that a recent affair did result in a cut on the thumb of one refined scrapper, but not enough blood was spilled to stain a white waistcoat. Besides, the thumb may have been the offending member in being placed to the nose, and thus conveying contempt.

The habit of sending good money after bad is hard to curb. Often persons who have been swindled once are in line for another experience of the same sort. When a name gets on the official sucker list, its erasure is rare.

Recently a number of men and women were taken in on a lot of oil stock that, aside from the fact that it was artistically printed, was devoid of merit. Not long afterwards the victims were called upon by agents who said they would trade stock in concerns of admitted soundness, for a payment of the difference in cash. They collected the cash in advance. That's all.

Pillaging is indulged in freely by some of the Europeans who think themselves competent to establish a government. This manifestation, however, does not seem to be winning moral support from without.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

AN ANGEL IN THE HOUSE

Most of us have our troubles. They seem to have been divided by an impartial hand, to the deserving and to the more deserving, alike. None has escaped, although some of us hide the pain better than others.

Perhaps the worst affliction that can befall one of us is to be laid up, helpless, and feel that the house has to be regulated to meet our weakness. The steps must be hushed, the voices modulated, the bells muffled, the daily happenings screened from us, crisp words oiled to our bearings.

That is very, very hard. Most of us shrink from the thought of it, but most of us forget again how it feels when it is another who is shut in and surrounded. Our memories or our imaginations are not sharp enough to carry over for long and we go about unheeding.

We hush the children or send them away and keep them out of sight or sound of the invalid. That hurts unless the invalid is so ill the silence and seclusion are mandatory.

If not, if you happen to have an "angel" in your house in the shape of some old person too weak to get about much, or a sick one chained to a wheel chair, teach the children to make it their business to do something in kindness for him every day. Let no day go by.

If there are certain sights or sounds that the sick one cannot bear, teach the children they must consider that and see to it that the invalid's comfort is never disturbed. That sort of going without, that sort of self-discipline is a gift to a child and no hindrance.

It will do a child a great deal of good to learn that there is one person above all others in the house for whom he must think first. Too often the children know that they come before father or mother and never glimpse the notion that things are not as they ought to be; that they ought to be thinking of someone else besides themselves.

"Mary has a wonderful charm; a wonderful personality. I've never known her to wound anyone; never known her to speak sharply or to forget to smile gently on all who came her way. A beautiful character."

"Yes," said grandmother. "Mary had an angel in the house when she was growing up. Her brother met with an accident and was crippled for years. Mary spent three hours every afternoon amusing him. She played to him, sang to him, read to him, told him stories, talked to him and listened to him daily until his death. That's what made Mary so lovely."

Perhaps you didn't know there was an "angel" concealed in your house. Disguised in the form of an invalid chained by pain and tormented still an angel to "make Mary lovely."

THREE CLUBS GET TOGETHER IN MEET

Members Exchange Bon Mots Get Off Parodies on Names

The Kiwanis and Exchange clubs of Glendale were guests at noon today at the Tuesday Afternoon club house, of the Rotary club of Glendale. At least 200 members of the three organizations were present. Good will, brotherly feeling and sincere handshakes were the order of the day, and altogether the affair proved to be one of the most satisfying events of its kind ever held in this city.

"Our three clubs are as nearly alike as three peas," said "Fergie" Ferguson, president of the Kiwanis club, when called on by President George B. Karr of the Rotary club, chairman of the early part of the meeting. "We are all aiming in the same direction—the betterment of ourselves and our city. The club buttons are the only things that are different. We are all willing to cooperate in anything that might have a tendency to uplift." These sentiments were reiterated by President George Karr and Mr. McConnell, representative of the Exchange club.

The big band of Rotary law fell upon three Rotarians. Rotarians "Bill" Howe and "Dick" White were fined "one smack" each for conspiring to put over the following witticisms on the governing committee:

"What sort of a flivver is an Ernest Ford?"

"Anything like a George Karr?"

"Ask Paul Carson."

"What kind of a chicken would a clothes-Press Hatch?"

"One like the Hen in Francis Henry?"

"If she got out, would Charlie Cooper—or would Bill Hunter?"—and then would Bill Tanner if George Moyses taught Bill Howe?"—and how much would he be Owen Emery?"

"If a blacksmith is an ironworker, is Herb Smith a Dick White?"

"Does a golf-bug weave a Harry Webb?"

"Does a Roy L. Kent beat four aces?"

Val Hollister was asked to produce a "plunk" for failing to be on hand to receive guests last Sunday evening at his place of business. Val's $5 bill came near "stumping" the collection committee.

Bill Bode—"Smiling Bill"—told of the big Halloween party that was given Wednesday night, October 31, at the Glendale high school by the Kiwanis club. He said there will be everything there from pink lemonade to snake dances, and that the invitation includes every youngster and grown-up in Glendale.

The speaker of the day, Dr. J. Whitcome Brougher and Mrs. Brougher were introduced by Rotarian E. E. Ford, to whom the meeting was turned over by President Karr.

Following were the visiting Rotarians:

John Mell of Pasadena; Walter Gullock, Pasadena; Walter Farrell, Richmond; C. E. Leggett, New Philadelphia, Ohio; Elliott Bilyman of Los Angeles, and Otto G. Whitley of Los Angeles.

CHILDREN'S BOOK WEEK NOV. 11 TO 17

Boys' and girls' reading will get special attention this fall, as the fifth annual Children's Book Week will occur November 11 to 17. Libraries, schools and bookstores all over the country are planning exhibits of books for children and young people—and they make a fascinating array, for even the least expensive editions nowadays are dressed up with alluring illustrations, and the contemporary writers of boys' and girls' books seem to have high ideals both as to style and subject matter. Too many children grow up without forming the habit of reading. Reading seems a task to them and they lose the fun of discovering new worlds and adventures through the doorways of books. Parents should give more thought to this important phase of a child's development—guiding him to the better books, discussing with him all that he reads, and endeavoring to instill in him a genuine love of reading. Children's Book Week is a good time to plan for the Christmas season, since books are appropriate and lasting gifts. Librarians and booksellers are advocating "more books in the home," and are glad to suggest books that children really enjoy. Youngsters like to own things and are always delighted to have a row of books "all their own."

KAFATERIA SHOE STORE'S GREAT BARGAIN SALE

The big shoe sale at the Kafateria Shoe Store, 126 North Brand, in which a part of the $100,000 purchase sale of shoes is being featured by the 16 Kafateria shoe stores throughout this section, will positively close Saturday night. This is the final word of Manager Cushman, who advises the buying public to take advantage of the wonderful line of new shoes and the latest novelties in footwear which have been placed on sale at ridiculously low prices. Manager Cushman says that never before in the history of the store have such big reductions been offered, and he says the lines include the very latest in ladies' and men's footwear. The big half page advertisement on page two of this paper gives a few of the many good buys offered in footwear. "The sale positively closes Saturday night," says Mr. Cushman, "and we want our friends to come in and inspect the stock, whether they buy or not."

MONTROSE NOTES

Those interested in the proposed incorporation of Montrose and La Crescenta into one municipality will have an excellent opportunity of airing their views and gaining some valuable information along the lines of city government at the public meeting to be held Tuesday evening, November 6, under the auspices of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce. The publicity committee of the chamber is exerting every effort to advertise the affair in order that a truly representative number will be present. Following the business session there will be a number of entertainment features and a delightful community song fest which promises to wind up the evening in fine style. All those interested in the proposal, whether for or against incorporation, will be made welcome. The meeting will be held in the new Montrose school house which opens its doors Monday morning for the first school day.

Richard Stoner, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stoner of 345 East Honolulu avenue, is recovering rapidly from injuries received Tuesday morning. While at play during recess the little chap fell 17 feet from the fire escape of the La Crescenta school house, breaking his arm in two places and receiving a deep gash in his head. First aid was administered by the school principal, whose quick and efficient work probably saved the boy from serious complications. Richard was rushed into Montrose where he was given temporary treatment and was then taken to Glendale where his wound was sewed up and the arm set. His little friends will soon see him about.

With the installation of gas in many of the homes of Montrose comes the interesting report of a free cooking demonstration to be given in Young's hardware store within the next few days. As soon as the gas is connected up in the store the proprietor plans to serve hot biscuits, cake and other edibles to the housewives of Montrose, who will no doubt enjoy sampling some of the delicious foods prepared and cooked rapidly in one of the latest model gas ranges. The exact date of the demonstration will be made public very soon.

Friends and acquaintances of A. V. Adkins of the Montrose State bank will be sorry to learn of the death of his step-father. Mr. P. E. O'Donnell, who passed away Wednesday evening at the California hospital in Los Angeles. Mr. Adkins went to Los Angeles several days ago to be with his parents, both of whom were ill at the time. The mother is in a very serious condition and it is not expected that she will survive the shock of her husband's death.

Dr. Lucena E. Turner has recently become located in her new offices in the Reinhard building on Honolulu avenue. Dr. Turner has been for some time past in La Crescenta, but a steadily growing practice made necessary the change to larger and more central quarters. Dr. Turner's present suite of rooms is light and airy, and most charmingly appointed throughout.

LAWRENCE, KAN., TO GET GUERRILLA CANTRELL'S FLAG

[By Associated Press] EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 26.—The flag said to be that which William Clark Quantrell, guerrilla chief of the Civil war period, carried during many of his raids has been preserved and is in possession of S. H. Sutherland of El Paso. During the Quantrell excursions, according to the story related by Sutherland, who is now 65 years of age, the flag was carried by Jack Swartz. Swartz is said to have died at Las Cruces, N. M., 25 years ago and to have expressed the desire that the flag be buried with him. The wish was not granted, however, and Sutherland claims to have obtained it. The emblem, according to Sutherland, was carried in the raid on Lawrence, Kansas, on the morning of August 3, 1863, when 110 persons were killed. Quantrell, according to Sutherland, was a school teacher in Lawrence before the Civil war. He took up the cause of the Confederacy and organized his guerrilla band

LA CRESCENTA NOTES

The La Crescenta Feed and Fuel company is now occupying its new and permanent home on Montrose and Los Angeles avenues. The owners, having lived in La Crescenta for the past fourteen years need no introduction. The building erected by them is one of the most modern in the valley, a fireproof brick structure, 50x70 feet in dimensions.

The entertainment committee of the La Crescenta Woman's Club announces that the second dance of the season will be given Saturday evening, November 17, in the school auditorium. Mrs. Mary B. Darrow will be hostess at this dance and will select a committee to assist. It has been decided by the entertainment committee that one member will be hostess at each dance. At the December dance Mrs. C. E. Culbertson will be hostess. Mrs. E. N. Nettleton will preside at the one held in January, Mrs. T. S. Minford in February and Mrs. A. W. Brown in March. A card evening is being planned for Thursday evening, November 22, at the school auditorium.

The Dunsmore Water company will hold its postponed annual meeting at the school auditorium next Saturday afternoon. C. P. Waste, president, will preside.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Culbertson of East Michigan avenue entertained informally at dinner and a radio party last Thursday evening, their guests including Mr. and Mrs. Walter Overell and Mrs. I. Jonquist of Flintbridge; Mr. and Mrs. George Dunlop, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Pritchard, Miss Della Bastable, Mrs. Gertrude Hoggatt, Dr. and Mrs. E. N. Nettleton, H. A. Baldrige and Daniel Cook.

Miss Ethelynn Smith, a former resident of La Crescenta, but at present an instructor in the Huntington Park high school, has consented, after much solicitation, to open a dramatic class in La Crescenta. Miss Smith's course will include expression work, enunciation and dramatic art. The first session will be held at the school auditorium next Saturday morning.

R. Cookson of West Michigan avenue has started the erection of an attractive bungalow on his property on Pennsylvania avenue.

By FRANCIS W. READ

Elsewhere on this page today we publish the tabulated scores of Stanford, California and U. S. C. for the present season. We confess that the tabulated result is somewhat of a surprise to us, for its disclosure several things that should prove of importance during the remainder of the season. First of these is the work of Stanford, the heaviest scoring team on the coast. Then comes the defensive record of California, without a score against the Golden Bears. Third is the comparatively poor showing of the Trojans on paper as compared to Stanford and California.

At the opening of the season Stanford was pointed out as a strong contender for the coast honors. The Cards looked good and got off to a seemingly fine start. Then came word that all was not well with the Stanford eleven. Coach Andy Kerr brought his charges south last week to play Occidental. They handed the Tigers a 44 to 0 defeat, but did not look like the team they were cracked up to be. Their line was weak and there was an utter lack of team work. They were not so highly expected after their debut in the south as they had been before. In this column we commented on the poor showing that Stanford made. Nevess and Campbell were the whole Cardinal team. Only two touchdowns were earned, the others coming from Occidental fumbles. Truly, Stanford failed to impress in the Oxy game Saturday.

The figures, however, show that Stanford is the highest scoring team of the three. The Cardinals have run up 206 points in four games, one-fourth more than California, an average of 51 points each game. They have been scored on but once, a touchdown by Santa Clara. From these tabulations we reach the conclusion that the Cards were simply off their game last Saturday. They are on paper a heavier scoring team than either California or U. S. C. and look good on the defense. It is surely surprising to see the way the Cards stack up in black and white. They appear to be a much better balanced team than the Trojan eleven. This is especially interesting in the light of the Stanford-U. S. C. game tomorrow.

The Trojans, hailed early in the season as the team that would beat the Golden Bears and cop the championship, show up rather feeble on paper when compared to Stanford and California. They are the weakest of the three teams on both offensive and defensive. They have scored but 78 points, just a little more than half the total scores of California, and about one-third of Stanford's total. On the defense they have had their goal line crossed for a total of 36 points, while Stanford has been scored on for

GLENDALE ELEVEN PLAYS CITRUS
HIGH TODAYDynamiters Meet Lemons
in First Home Game of League Season

Coch Normal Hayhurst this afternoon brings his Glendale High school footballers up against the Citrus Union eleven in their second game of the Central League season on the local giriron.

As it is the first home game of the league schedule, a large crowd is anticipated. The classes are being dismissed early to allow the students to see the game.

Glendale should cop the contest by all odds. While the Dynamiters were beating South Pasadena 26 to 0 last Friday, Citrus dropped the afternoon affair to Alhambra. However, the Lemons have a real football team, and the local will have no snap.

Coch Hayhurst has been putting the boys through stiff workouts since the South Pasadena game, and has them in first-class shape. Bud Elliott is showing himself to be a great quarterback, while his brother Howard, playing at half, is putting up a wonderful game. Ryan at full has also showed that he has the real stuff.

Zann has held down the pivot position in the last few encounters, and is a mighty good center.

Some unique routing stunts are being planned by the Black and Red supporters, and there will be a real fight every minute. The Glendale line-up will probably be as follows: Lavelle, left end; Dodson, left tackle; Morrison, right guard; Zann, center; Brucker, right guard; Phillips, right tackle; Horri, right end; Bud Elliott, quarter; Ryan, left half; Keat, right half; H. Elliott, full.

SAGEHENS TACKLE
REDLANDS ELEVEN
IN SECOND GAME

Pomona and Redlands will hook up tomorrow in a gridiron tilt at the latter's field. It will be the second conference game for both teams and a battle between the two "weak sisters" of the conference.

The Sagehens are expected to cop, as they look slightly superior to the Bulldogs. In their first game Coach Nixon's men took a 13 to 6 beating at the hands of the Caltek Engineers.

Redlands lost her first game to Occidental two weeks ago, by a score of 33 to 0, and the Bulldogs have been trying to perfect their play since then.

MIDGET GRIDDERS
MEET DEFEAT
BY CITRUS

The Glendale one hundred and thirty-pound footballers travelled to Citrus yesterday and were beaten by a score of 6 to 0. Although the game was fiercely contested, the Glendallians were unable to carry the ball across their fighting opponents' goal line. The first two quarters were a series of attacks and rebuffs for both teams. The team work and fast elusive plays were admirable on both sides.

La Franchi exhibited his usual skill and ability in both direction and actual playing. The whole team proved to be an asset to Glendale, not only in playing football but also in real honest sportsmanship.

It was in the third quarter that Lindsay of Citrus managed to carry the pigskin over Glendale's line. The last part of the fourth quarter Glendale's goal was again in danger, but its defenders resolutely made up their minds not to allow it to be crossed in the short time then remaining.

The local high school is hoping to redeem itself by defeating Citrus in the heavyweight game today at the home field.

but 6 points, and California not at all. Of course, the Washington game accounts for much. The Trojans seem to have upset all hope in their failure in the early games. California has scored 142 points, or about three-fourths the total score of Stanford. The Bears have a clean slate on the defensive. They have shown wonderful defensive strength, equal to the teams of the last three years, while on the offensive they have been every bit as good as was expected. The Alumni game is the only contest that caused the Bruins to be criticized for the size of the score. Cal is the same Cal of old and another wonder team seems probable.

The Bears look the best of the outfits from these scores. Next are the Cards, with the Trojans trailing. It is regretted that the scores for the Washington Huskies are not included. This might show some interesting facts.

CUBS TO BATTLE
WHITTIER POETS
AT MOORE FIELD

Jimmy Cline's fighting Southern Branch footballers and the fast Whittier college team will furnish the chief attraction for grid fans tomorrow when they meet at Moore field in the only varsity tilt of the day in these parts.

Dope gives the Poets an edge over the Cubs, but the Vermont avenue aggregation are out to win. Both elevens are to date undefeated. Whittier spilled all the dope by downing Caltek. Previously the Poets had trounced Loyola and the U. S. C. Arizona. The Cubs have handed defeats to both Loyola and the San Diego Teachers' college. Whittier beat Loyola by a good deal more impressive score than did the Cubs, but the latter team has not been scored on as yet.

This game will test whether Cline has more up his sleeve than he has disclosed in the early games. It will also determine whether Whittier can keep up the pace started early in the season.

Every man on the Sub eleven is in great shape and all ready to go. Walt Westcott, captain of the team, who was hurt in the Loyola game last Saturday, will be back in the line-up. Loren Peak is in great form, while Cap Harlan is booting the ball hard and promises to show the stuff disclosed by Gordon White in his punts last year. He formerly played on the line.

STANFORD READY TO MEET TROJAN
TEAM SATURDAY

U. S. C. Footballers Will Arrive in Palo Alto This Evening

By HARRY M. BENNETT, Jr.
Glendale Press Sport Correspondent

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 26.—Following their 29-0 defeat last week at the hands of the Washington "Huskies" the Trojan footballers will arrive in Palo Alto tonight for the big contest with Andy Kerr's Cardinals in the local stadium tomorrow afternoon. Even though they have suffered defeat, those who believe in comparative scores figure U. S. C. one touchdown better than Stanford and the heat of enthusiasm over this week's game has not dropped one degree.

An immense crowd of 40,000 is expected to witness the game and adequate preparation is being made to handle it. The Southern Pacific will run at least three special trains from San Francisco while U. S. C. has chartered the steamship Yale to bring a goodly portion of the student body. Berkeley has sent word to Manager Paul Davis saying that they intend to turn out an immense Twenty-six ticket sellers have been engaged and this is the largest number ever employed for any game or exhibition including the P. P. I. E. Over 100 ticket takers and ushers will be present to handle the seating arrangements systematically.

Without an exception this enormous crowd will witness the hardest fought game of the year. In meeting U. S. C. this year Stanford has three consecutive beatings to square up and will put everything in the game to win, while U. S. C. has everything to lose and will fight to the last ditch because the loser will be practically through for the year. They will be through with all great honors for the year while the winner will be in direct line for the coast championship.

Since the Occidental game Kerr has spent much time teaching the backfield how to handle the ball more consistently and to cut down on the fumbles and ragged playing.

In the light scrimmage against the College of the Pacific, held Wednesday afternoon, considerable improvement was shown. Fumbles and ragged playing are factors that may be remedied and are causing the Card followers little or no worry, for otherwise the backfield is perfect.

Ernie Nevess, at full, and Normie Cleveland at half are showing up well in their punting. Ernie being officially declared the better, having won the Perpetual Punting trophy contest last Monday when he booted the ball an average of 58.7 feet in five kicks.

Paul Murray will be back at half after an absence of two weeks due to an injured leg. Before he was forced to retire he was showing stellar playing, and in practice for all this week he has shown an exceptionally good comeback.

Both ends, Thomas and Lawson, show up well. Every time they down the field under the punts, Lawson now has two sore ribs but this is not expected to keep him out of the game.

Chuck Johnson was also on the injured list at the last moment last week, but will play as his disabilities were a wrenched ligament in his neck and a severe kick in the head.

TROJAN FROSH TO PLAY STANFORD
YEARLINGS

Peagreeners Meet in the Coliseum Tomorrow Afternoon

While the Giants of the University of Southern California and Stanford battle tomorrow the Babes of the same institutions will clash in the Los Angeles Coliseum in a game that should rival the big one in brilliance, speed and class.

Stanford is proud of her Freshman team this year. The Cardinal infants have demoralized their class against half a dozen high-powered prep teams and the folks up on "the Farm" are looking for an impressive victory on the part of their Freshman team as well as the Varsity.

U. S. C. has little to say. The blight of the defeat suffered by the Varsity last week hangs heavy over the Trojan campus. The one ray of light in this pervading gloom is the class of Coach Leo Caland's Freshman team. The yearlings are good—so good that Henderson would allow his golf handicap to be cut four strokes were any of them eligible for the first string. Their play is a source of satisfaction to the U. S. C. folks, and they will turn out en masse for the game tomorrow.

PASADENA ELEVEN

Covina High school lightweights gave the gate to the South Pasadena squad yesterday at Pasadena and kept the large end of a 14 to 0 score for themselves.

Mulrooney, playing fullback, bucked the leather pellet over the line both times, and Huggins, end, converted both goals.

Covina kept possession of the ball most of the time, the South Pasadena threatening to score only once, and that in the last half when they failed to buck the ball over from the five yard line.

CUPID FAILS TO WIN SCHOOLMARM FROM SCHOOL

Thirty-eight Los Angeles Maids Change Names, But Not Jobs

When the Los Angeles city schools reopened in September it was found that thirty-eight teachers had changed their names, but not their occupations. In other words that Cupid had been busy during the summer vacation. In commenting on the matter, Mrs. Susan Dorsey, superintendent of education, said:

"The old order changes. It used to be when a school teacher married she quit. Now in many cases, she goes on with her school work and home work too. New conditions enable teachers to do that. It does not usually detract from their efficiency as teachers and that is what they are paid for."

"There is no reason why a married school-teacher should not be as efficient as an unmarried one. They seem to be happy with their home and school work. If they are, we should be."

GLENDALE WOMEN STUDY HISTORY OF COUNTRY

Are Taking Responsibilities of Citizenship Seriously

One of the groups of the Tuesday Afternoon club known as the Citizenship and Legislative Section is quite evidently trying to live up to the citizenship creed as proposed by the American Bar association which begins: "I believe it to be my duty to inform myself on American history, the foundations of our government as embodied in the United States constitution, and the application of the principles therein contained to present day problems."

In conclusion the creed reads: "It is my duty as a patriotic American citizen to be a minute man of the constitution, ready at all times to defend the long established and cherished institutions of our government against attacks, either from within or without, and to do my part in preserving the blessings of liberty for which my revolutionary forefathers fought and died; that I must maintain continuously a civic consciousness and conscience; that my country needs my active service in times of peace no less than in war; that patriotism must be a constituent part of my religion; that no prouder boast can emanate from my lips than truly to declare, 'I am an American citizen.'"

And so this group is studying the constitution and the men who framed it, and kindred study is being followed by other organized circles, as for example Chapter L of the P. E. O., which at its last meeting began the study of women of the Revolutionary period.

Women, the mothers of the nation in these critical, reconstructing times are in anxiety about their country and in fear lest she lose the ideals of her founders. They wait expectantly, for what they know not and meantime are seeking guidance. One of them, Anna Steese Richardson in a current magazine voices the prayer: "God send a leader of women," saying: "Ever since the Nineteenth amendment enfranchised women I have been attending their national conventions and at each convention I have waited for the divine spark which would set ablaze the crusading spirit of these twenty million women, the same spirit which sank tea in Boston harbor in 1776, which stamped out slavery in 1861, and which in 1923 put the fear of God and mothers in the hearts of politicians and made America lead an anguished world to outlaw war."

"Nero may have fiddled while Rome burned, or the incident may have been invented by some historian with a sense of the dramatic. But if it is true, then Nero has twenty million imitators in America today, twenty million women who are fiddling feeble tunes while the flames of greed, hatred and war creep upon civilization."

This is a somewhat exaggerated view of the real facts of America's entrance into the world war which as a matter of fact was precipitated more by the influence of financiers who had loaned large sums to the allies, than the altruistic demands of women though every argument was used to reconcile them to the sacrifice. However, it is well for women to be thinking of their obligations to their country and also to be thinking of her past and her future.

COMFORT FOR THE UNEDUCATED

A very unusual article was contributed to the department of labor education of "The Spokesman" by the U. of C. extension division by J. L. Kerchen on "the advantages of being uneducated." It was intended to comfort those men who feel the smart of the lack of education but can as well be applied by many of the housewives of the older generation who possibly envy their grandchildren the opportunities provided them by the modern public schools. Mr. Kerchen says:

"The purpose of this modest reflection on education is to give a message of cheer to those in the ranks of labor, who for any reason have become discouraged or disheartened, and have dropped out of school ranks, as it were, with the feeling that their time for educational renewal is past. For such, the compensation for lost educational opportunity lies in the advantages of being uneducated."

"One of the virtues of being uneducated is that you 'do not know' so many things that are not true." The Danish explorer, Nansen, has observed of the Russian peasants that it is possible for them to accept new ideas because they are not traditionally educated. They do not labor under the difficulty of having to get rid of old ideas before taking up new ones. With the uneducated the chances for a new idea are good. David Thoreau said: 'If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music which he hears, however measured and far away.' Keeping step to the music of a 'sensible and far away' education, one that has ceased to function in present-day industrial society, is too often a handicap of the educated man."

"One of the inconveniences of living in a changing world is the necessity of continual revision of old stocks of knowledge. For one educated many years ago, this is a difficult feat. The person who cannot make mental adjustments is termed a 'conservative,' a 'stand-patter,' an 'old fogey.' Of course there are young fogies too. Age is not necessarily a measure of old fogeyism."

"It must not be understood by

ASCETICISM A FOE TO BEAUTY CULTURE

Early Christians Saw Evil in Personal Adornment

An eloquent defender of beauty culture, Phyllis Lewis, says: "All the women were in the habit of beautifying" exquisitely, and beauty culture had reached a high stage of development when the early Christians first appeared. Horrified at the worldliness of the state, they sought by every means at their command to divert people's ideas towards the spiritual. This turning-away from all things of this world developed into a mental attitude that saw special sinfulness in beauty and culminated in a reaction against beauty culture. In no sense then a science, but only a custom beauty culture could not thrive in such an atmosphere, and indeed it quickly deteriorated and languished and eventually became a mass of senseless, useless procedures—that is, where it endured at all."

"The problem of keeping mentally young is the most important consideration of adult education. The first step in the effort to keep mentally young is to acquire the study habit."

The Woman Who Don't Read This Is a Loser

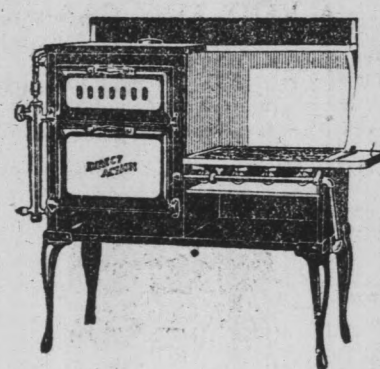

Passing by a life convenience that might be hers.

JUST THINK—for 10 years, the manufacturers of Direct Action Ranges have advertised in woman's periodicals continuously; the perfection, the ease, the safety, the delights of Lorain measured heat for everything cooked.

Yet how many of you, having read, still bought ranges not so equipped; putting aside a device that would have made your range life lasting and a dividend payer on the gas it saved.

It has been said: The women were not to blame, but the salesman, not reading the same journals, was ignorant of the real worth in the device offered.

LIPS TELL TALES THOUGH DUMB

"Somebody said—'The light that lies in a woman's eyes—it lies and lies!' Mayhap it does, but that suspicious bard should have looked farther for his truth," says Kent Darrow. "If he had but dropped his gaze a few inches, he might easily have found whether his fair lady was misleading him or not. Science and experience both tell us that no woman can possibly hide her emotions from one who looks at her lips—the truth will out in spite of her."

"Ah, then, those tell-tale lips! They just can't keep secrets even though they utter not a sound."

"Through the ages we have learned to disguise and control emotion expressed in practically every other feature but the twitching of the lips, their drooping, tightening, pouting—is almost instinctive. A mouth lacking in expression is indicative of weakness, of an insipid individuality, so the rule holds good even there."

"We can massage and mold out the lines etched in our faces but not so the little intimacies that the years have pictured in our mouths."

"These two curving lines of red, even in repose, show more plainly than words what sort of an individual each of us is. So—"

The surest means to a pretty mouth is a sunny disposition," explained Julia Faye when I discussed the subject with her. Hers is a friendly mouth, attractive when curving in a smile or when just natural while listening or thinking."

'THE MEANEST MAN IN THE WORLD'

Preview and Personal Appearance Tonight at 8:00

Glendale's favorite, good-natured, peppy

JOHNNY HINES in "CONDUCTOR 1492"

Johnny phones glad greetings to his hundreds of Glendale friends and says "Conductor 1492" is even better than his last preview, "Little Johnny Jones." His own words are: "I'll knock 'em coo-coo!" He also promises one of the biggest thrills ever offered the screen and brings a broken arm to prove it was real!

Monthly Meeting of Men of Christian S. S.

The monthly meeting of the Men's Bible Class of Central Christian school was held last night at the home of Rev. C. A. Cole. There were twenty present. It was voted to hold a Father and Son banquet in the social hall of the church on the evening of November 16, following the observance of Father's Day on the Sunday preceding, November 11, when Rev. Cole will preach a sermon suitable to the occasion. The men also voted unanimously to recommend to the elders of the church that they arrange for a great revival meeting at some auspicious time in the near future, securing the best evangelist to be had, with the promise of a full and undivided support from the class. Floyd Mercer, superintendent of the Bible school, made a brief talk in which he urged the men to set an aim to shoot at and hit it, thus disproving the assertion of a recent speaker who said the average men's class aimed at nothing and then hit it. He said there was need for men's work and counsel in every department of the school and church.

At 10 o'clock the meeting adjourned. The next gathering will be on Thursday evening, November 22, at the home of O. L. Kilborn, president of the class.

PETE HANSON HOST TO SACRAMENTO CONTINGENT

President Thom Served With Usual Stripped Soup Bone

The "Sacramento" contingent of the Glendale Realty Board, comprising those members of the board who made the trip several weeks ago to the realtors' convention at the state capital, gathered at the home of Peter Hanson, 221 Arden avenue, Thursday night. It has been about three weeks since that convention and all that time those realtors have been holding back the hilarity and enthusiasm which they were unable to turn loose at the convention. Last night the "safety valve" was blown entirely off and the way those really peddlers cut loose was worth mentioning. As each guest arrived those already assembled gave the famous "Howdy" yell, much to the edification of the neighbors. After the residents of that section knew what was up everything was all right, but before they were aware that the "Sacramento" bunch was holding one of its quiet little seances, they sent in all kinds of calls for help to the police and fire departments and even appealed to the governor for protection. Pete says that "next time" he is going to tip the neighbors off in advance—so that they can leave town.

The feature of the evening was the individual refreshments served to President Cameron Thom of the board. Prior to the meal, Cam had taken particular pains to inform his host-to-be that only on the promise that adequate refreshments would be served would he attend. When "hash time" came Cam was served his usual soup bone from which all troublesome meat had been stripped. The party immediately took on the "at home" aspect for him.

"Funniest experiences" of the various members at the Sacramento convention were given by a number of those present. Dr. Russell and Harold Russell were the only members of the Sacramento crowd who did not attend this gathering. The greater part of the evening was spent in games in which C. T. Rich and Mrs. Gilhuly secured first prizes and Miss "Winnie" Traver and Mr. Wermette very decidedly earned the booby awards.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Guthrie, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Thom, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Wermette, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Gilhuly, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. MacMullin, Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Twining, Miss Winnifred Traver, Mrs. Poor, E. P. Hayward, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Rich, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Marple, and the host and hostess.

ORPHEUS CLUB WILL BE HEARD IN CONCERT

Knights Templar Are Sponsoring This Entertainment

Glendaleans are sufficiently acquainted with the Orpheus club of Los Angeles to welcome the news that they will be heard in concert here November 1, in the auditorium of the Tuesday afternoon club at 8:15 p. m., under the auspices of the Glendale commandery, Knights Templar. A part of the program will be given by the famous quartet, "The Orpheus Four," whose portraits are presented herewith and who will be recognized as old friends. Their names are Samuel Glass, Paul Adams, V. A. Campbell, H. M. Dudley. The club will be directed by Hugo Kirchofer, who is almost a Glendalean. Following is the program which will be presented.

LACE BORDERS FOR HANDKERCHIEFS

Lace borders of real valenciennes lace already shaped and ready to whip about a handkerchief are strongly reminiscent of the days when our grandmothers prided themselves upon their pocket handkerchiefs.

Slippers of TINSEL BROCADE
New slippers for evening are of tinsel brocade with straps and heels of either silver or gold. The crocades come in various color combinations.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

A VISION OF THE LITTLE COUNTRY TOWN

He sits there at the fireside, where the mellow light is gleaming
O'er the columns of the little country paper that he holds,
And something he has read there seems to set his fancy dreaming,
While memory's panorama of forgotten days unfolds
Its quaint and homely phrases all incline him to reflection;
Some sweetness of enchantment as he lays the paper down
Strips the bitter peel of sorrow from the fruit of recollection.
He tastes the mellow sweetness of the little country town.

He sees, at even, a cottage where the lamplight's dimly straying
Through the window, thickly bowered with the honeysuckle vine;
To his ears come strains of music—there's a sound of someone playing
On a little cottage organ and the notes of Auld Lang Syne.
He hears the tea things clatter, sees a woman's figure flitting
Here and there, belike some fairy, and the shimmer of her gown;
And longing leads his fancy to the place where he is sitting
Just across from her at table in the little country town.

The misty eye of sorrow at the bush of dreams is seeking
The rose of recollection with the fragrance of its morn,
And in the ear of memory the voice of grief is speaking—
The hand that plucks the blossom knows the sharpness of the thorn.
His dreams die with the embers at the fireplace—ah, the pity!
The paper falls from listless hands and idly flutters down.
How lonely, lonely, lonely is the sullen, smoky city,
When the heart has come from straying in the little country town!

SAN FERNANDO ROAD & BRAND BLVD.
"MEET ME AT THE GATEWAY" AT 7 AND 9

POLA NEGRI

"THE CHEAT"

With Jack Holt

The finest story ever written for the screen. Pola Negri's greatest picture. Beautiful women, sumptuous settings—a modern society beauty who plays with fire and then refuses to pay.

FOLLOW THE SEARCHLIGHT FREE AUTO PARK
ALWAYS A GOOD SHOW

AT THE THEATRES

"THE CHEAT" IS POLA NEGRI'S BEST PICTURE, CLAIM

Heralded as her greatest picture, Pola Negri's second Paramount star-production, "The Cheat," featuring Jack Holt, with Charles de Roche in support, is now showing at the Gateway Theater.

Most of the action takes place at a Long Island society resort. Miss Negri appears as Carmelita de Cordoba, a South American heiress who falls in love with a New York broker (Jack Holt). They elope in Paris and coming to New York, a series of highly dramatic episodes occur in which the young wife finds herself sorely pressed for funds. As a last resort she accepts the aid of a bogus East Indian prince who loves her madly. A happy ending brings the picture to a novel close—an unusually gripping court room scene constituting the climax, the equal of which seldom has been seen on the screen.

The supporting cast includes, among others, Dorothy Cummings, Robert Schable, Charles Stevenson and Guy Oliver. Ouida Bergere adapted the story to the screen.

BIG DOUBLE BILL AT T. D. & L. THEATER

TODAY'S OFFERING

The T. D. & L. Theater stages a novelty today and tomorrow in the shape of a big double all-comedy bill. First there's Bert Lytell, Bryant Washburn, Blanche Sweet and a big supporting cast in George M. Cohan's famous stage comedy, "The Meanest Man in the World." Next you'll see Lloyd Hamilton in "F. O. B." full of rich humor of the open-faced variety. And listen, that's not dear all. There's a preview and personal appearance at 8 o'clock of Glendale's favorite, Johnny Hines, in "Conductor 1492." Now you'll come, won't you? Johnny says "It'll knock 'em coo-coo." Everybody enjoys that kind of a knock from Johnny.

NATURALNESS IS KEY TO CULLEN LANDIS' SUCCESS

"Acting," says Cullen Landis, masculine lead in "The Fog," now at the Glendale Theater, "is merely being natural and living the part."

"I think that many artists absolutely ruin their careers by exaggerating their roles. A generation ago many actors affected a Shakespearean tone of voice in declaiming their lines and strutted all over the stage instead of speaking and acting naturally."

"That age is gone and the screen has done much to remove exaggeration from acting," declares Mr. Landis.

"I think that entering the spirit of your role means everything. If I were afraid to fight the 'heavy' I would probably put up a very poor showing and the encounter would look faked. But the mere love of battle makes a good picture and removes the stings from blows which seldom fall lightly."

PICKPOCKETS ARE TAUGHT TRADE BY MASTERS IN ART

[By Associated Press]

VIENNA, Oct. 26.—The mental and physical make-up of that world-wide class of minor criminals, the pickpocket, has been set forth with convincing accuracy by the one man in Europe doubtless best qualified to do so, Dr. E. Lewisch, for 18 years chief of the pickpocket section of the Vienna police.

The chief was addressing the delegates to the international police congress. The pickpocket, he said, was essentially a nomad, a rover. He finds his prey on the street, in places of amusement, when an accident draws people together, in the cloakroom of a theatre, in short, wherever there is a crowd. He may operate in Vienna today, and tomorrow be loitering about a city a hundred miles away. He must be ready to keep moving and give up any idea of a settled home. In Europe he must be a good linguist.

It is reasonably certain, Dr. Lewisch said, that these men are systematically trained in their work, and he believed the best schools are in Poland and Hungary. Besides strength and manual dexterity the pickpocket must have presence of mind, knowledge of men, and a ready adaptability to cope with unexpected and dangerous situations. Unbounded effort, self-confidence and a ready eloquence are important assets, and often help him to calm the agitation of his victim, avert suspicion, and even win the confidence and gratitude of the man he is robbing.

The successful pickpocket needs well-formed hands, strong and with long, narrow fingers. He must be able to seize a heavy purse with two fingers as with a pair of pincers, and extract it from a pocket by a quick and sure movement, or twist a watch ring out of its bearings with as easy a grace as if picking a flower from its stem.

In court the pickpocket denies passionately every charge brought against him. He admits absolutely nothing. He has a ready excuse to account for his presence in the city where he was caught. The stolen watch he will swear he picked up from the ground, and as an honest finder he was about to carry it to the police station. Before the judge he will simulate deafness or ignorance of the language of the court. He will fight for time by asking questions on his own account, or pretend sickness or even insanity. It takes time to build a good case against a pickpocket, Dr. Lewisch declared. He must be held while his record in other countries is being looked up. He must be fingerprinted and photographed, and these evidences distributed to the police authorities all over Europe. And when he is found guilty, Dr. Lewisch concluded, give him a long sentence, preferably in the penitentiary.

ELK "GRAVE TEETH" DISPLAY AT LEWIS JEWELRY STORE

A collection of 80 elk "grave teeth" which were dug from the graves of the Indian chiefs of the tribes of Nez Perce, Seminole, Creek, Crow, Yakama, Sioux and Calvill tribes in Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and Utah, will be on exhibition at the Lewis Jewelry Co., 133 North Brand boulevard, on Saturday.
This collection, which is not for sale, and which is owned by J. R. Claiborne of Moscow, Idaho, is conceded to be the largest collection of "grave teeth" in the world. It is valued at $8000 and took between 30 and 65 years to collect.
